DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1-35 are pending.

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

Claims 32-35 contain large numbers of independent and distinct nucleotide sequences. See MPEP 2434.

Claims 32-35 are subject to a restriction since the sets of nucleotide sequences contained in these claims are not considered to be a proper genus/Markush. See MPEP 803.02 - PRACTICE RE MARKUSH-TYPE CLAIMS - If the members of the Markush group are sufficiently few in number or so closely related that a search and examination of the entire claim can be made without serious burden, the examiner must examine all the members of the Markush group in the claim on the merits, even though they are directed to independent and distinct inventions. In such a case, the examiner will not follow the procedure described below and will not require restriction. Since the decisions in In re Weber, 580 F.2d 455, 198 USPQ 328 (CCPA 1978) and In re Haas, 580 F.2d 461, 198 USPQ 334 (CCPA 1978), it is improper for the Office to refuse to examine that which applicants regard as their invention, unless the subject matter in a claim lacks unity of invention. In re Harnish, 631 F.2d 716, 206 USPQ 300 (CCPA 1980); and Ex parte Hozumi, 3 USPQ2d 1059 (Bd. Pat. App. & Int. 1984). Broadly, unity of invention exists where compounds included within a Markush group (1) share a common utility, and (2) share a substantial structural feature disclosed as being essential to that utility.

Claim 32 specifically claims Table I directed to GenBank accession numbers for hairless gene sequences. Claim 33 specifically claims siNA molecules comprising a sense strand and an antisense strand to hairless RNA: SEQ ID NOS 1-307 and 615-803, which are targeted to and modulate the expression of hairless gene sequences. Each accession number in Table I is unrelated since each gene sequence is structurally and functionally dependent. Although the claimed siNA sequences each target and modulate expression of a hairless RNA, the instant siNA sequences are considered to be unrelated, since each siNA sequence claimed is structurally and functionally independent and distinct for the following reasons: each siNA sequence has a unique nucleotide sequence and/or includes different modified nucleosides, each siNA sequence targets a different and specific region of a hairless gene nucleic acid, and each siNA, upon binding to a hairless gene nucleic acid, functionally modulates (increases or decreases) the expression of the gene and to varying degree. As such the Markush/genus of siNA sequences in claim 33 is not considered to constitute a proper genus, and is therefore subject to restriction. Furthermore, a search of more than one accession number and a search of more than one (1) of the siNA sequences claimed in claim 33 presents an undue burden on the Patent and Trademark Office due to the complex nature of the search and corresponding examination of more than one (1) of the claimed siNA sequences and GenBank Accession No. In view of the foregoing, one GenBank Accession No. and one (1) siNA sequence is considered to be a reasonable number of sequences for examination. Accordingly, applicants are required to elect one of the accession numbers of Table I and one (1) corresponding siNA from Table II or Table III. Note that this is not a species election.

Claims 1-31 link(s) the inventions set forth in claims 32-35. The restriction requirement among the linked inventions is subject to the nonallowance of the linking claim(s), claim 1-31. Upon the allowance of the linking claim(s), the restriction requirement as to the linked inventions shall be withdrawn and any claim(s) depending from or otherwise including all the limitations of the allowable linking claim(s) will be entitled to examination in the instant application. Applicant(s) are advised that if any such claim(s) depending from or including all the limitations of the allowable linking claim(s) is/are presented in a continuation or divisional application, the claims of the continuation or divisional application may be subject to provisional statutory and/or nonstatutory double patenting rejections over the claims of the instant application. Where a restriction requirement is withdrawn, the provisions of 35 U.S.C. 121 are no longer applicable. In re Ziegler, 44 F.2d 1211, 1215, 170 USPQ 129, 131-32 (CCPA 1971). See also MPEP § 804.01.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse. Traversal must be presented at the time of election in order to be considered timely. Failure to timely traverse the requirement will result in the loss of right to petition under 37 CFR 1.144. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable on the elected invention.

If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable upon the elected invention.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a petition under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(l).
